SPRUCE IV WINS A RACE.

SHE PASSES THE ETHELWYNN ON THE BEAT HOME.

THE CHALLENGER CROSSES THE FINISH LINE TWENTY-THREE SECONDS AHEAD OF THE

the triangular club course, in the Sound, off Oyster Bay, yesterday, was an exceedingly interesting con commodere E. C. Benedict's hospitable flagship, the Oneida, again served as the judges' boat, carrying the Regatta Committee, consisting of Oliver E. Cromwell, Charles W. Wetmore, Walter C. Kerr. Dr. Valentine Mott and Charles A. Sherman. Each leg of the triangular course was two miles long, and, being sailed twice over, the total course was twelve miles long. The atomic aspirants for aquatic honors started, close hauled on the starboard tack, with a fresh southwest wind, both boats crossing the line at 12:30 o'clock. The first leg was proad reach, as was also the second, the wind-ving shifted. The third leg was a beat to wind-having shifted. The third leg was a beat to windward. The Ethelwynn led all the way until the latter part of the beat home. On this leg the boats split tacks, the Ethelwynn standing toward the Long Island shore and Spruce IV toward the Connecticut cast. When the boats neared the finish, the Ethelwynn was so far to windward that she was regarded a sure winner, but Mr. Brand succeeded in shooting his fleet little British boat over the line within two feet of the stakeboat and twenty-three seconds ahead of the Ethelwynn, Spruce IV finishing at 425.44 and the Ethelwynn at 425.97.

There was an enjoyable dance at the handsome clubhouse in the evening.

CUP CHALLENGE NOT YET ON ITS WAY. ITS FORM TO BE CONSIDERED BY THE ROYAL VICTORIA VACHT CLUB ON SATURDAY.

tondon Sent. 25.-Charles D. The Good Roads Association of Brooklyn continues its good work, but without any great results. Putting a little asphalt at street intersections is not what wheelmen want. They want decently paved streets, or at least a lew str paved throughout.

The Roberts road race will take place on the toulevard in Brooklyn to-day. The start will be the head of the cycle path at 16 a, m. About 100 rominent riders have entered.

Quite a number of unattached wheelmen accompanied the members of the Century Wheelmen of New-York on their regular weekly run. This club is composed of some wide-awake members, and is increasing in membership every week. They have a clubhouse of their own.

Cyclists desiring to Join the League of American Wheelmen may obtain full printed information and lanks by sending name and address to the Cycling ditor, New-York Tribune.

WOMEN EXPERTS ON THE COURTS. OPENING GAMES OF THE CONTESTS OF THE STATEN ISLAND LADIES CLUB'S TOURNET-A SURPRISE IN THE MIXED DOUBLES.

Several hundred spectators watched the opening games of the Staten Island Ladies' Club's fall tennis urnament yesterday afternoon at Livingston. Most of the expert women players have entered. A curious feature of the singles was the fact that five out of the seven entries came from the Kings out of the seven entries came from the County Tennis Club, of Brooklyn, which boasts of both the enampion and ex-champion as members. The contest of the day was the mixed doubles match between Miss Moore and J. Parmiy Paret and Miss Atkinson and Dr. W. N. Frazer. Miss Moore and Mr. Paret played a remarkable game for a team which had never played together before, and won in straight sets. The results follow:

Ladies singles (preliminary round)—Miss Bessie Moor-beat Miss Alice Stratton, by default; Miss Helena R. Hell-wig leat Miss Jessie Brahams, 6-3, 6-2; Miss Juliette F. Atkinson beat Miss Louise J. Cuddy, 6-0, 6-1 Semi-final round-Miss Bessle Moore beat Miss Addie Herring, 6-2, 6-1.

BROOKLYN AGAIN DEFEATS BOSTON. THE BRIDEGROOMS WIN IN A CLOSE GAME AT EASTERN PARK-THE UMPIRE ALLOWS ONLY SIX INNINGS TO BE PLAYED.

GAMES YESTERDAY. Washington 7, New-York 6, Cincinnati 15, St. Louis 8, Brooklyn 4, Boston 2, Battlmore 7, Philadelphia 1, St. Louis 5, Cincinnati 4, Pittsburg 11, Louisville 4, second game.

The baseball season in Brooklyn will be brought to an end at Eastern Park this afternoon, as the Bridegrooms will go on to Philadelphia, where their final games will be played. All Brooklyn, however, is consoled somewhat by the fact that the team will finish far ahead of New-York.

About 1,600 people saw the second game of the final series between the Brooklyn and Boston teams at Eastern Park yesterday. The game was a close and exciting one as long as it lasted, but for some and exciting one as iong as it insted, but for some unaccountable reason Murray the umpire, called the game at the ending of the sixth inning.

The Boston players were indignant, and so were the spectators, for it was light enough to have played for another three-quarters of an hour. Nichols followed Murray into the office of the Brooklyn club, charging the umpire with robbing his team of a chance to win. There was little batting done on either side. The score:

TESTING THE TEXAS PRIZE-FIGHT LAW.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 15.-The tax collectors of McLennan and Hayes counties yesterday applied t Controller Farley for prizefight licenses, but at the nstance of the Attorney-General their applications were promptly refused, the Controller, in a written opinion, holding that Judge Hurt's opinion, delivered at Dallas last week, is not final, and that the Anti-Prizefight law can only be nullified by an opinion from the full bench of the Supreme Court. It is uncerstood that the applications were made at the in-stance of the Governor, as a preliminary to bring-ing a test case before the Suprome Court. The coilectors last night applied to Associate Justice Deaman, of the Supreme Court, for a mandamus to com pel the issuance of licenses. Should the writ be reper the issuance of needests. Should the writ be re-fused it will place the Supreme Associate Justice and the Chief Justice of the Court of Criminal Ap-peals at loggerheads as to the relative value of their jurisdiction in the matter. It is believed, however, that the applications will result in a sitting of the full Supreme Court and the rendering of a final and binding opinion.

GETTING RID OF PAUPER LUNATICS. Albany, Sept. 25.—The State Commission in Lunacy has arranged to dispose of two more foreign pauper insane patients confined in the New-York City asylum. It will compel the Cunard Steamship Company to ship back to Queenstown, Ireland, David pany to ship back to Queenstown, Ireland, David Boyce, whom it brought over three months ago on the Lucania. Henry Stom, a patient admitted to the New-York asylum September 21, says he lived for four years in Savannah, and he arrived in New-York City only two days previous to his admission to the institution. The authorities of Georgia will be asked to receive him.

COURT-MARTIAL OF CAPTAIN KIRKHAM. Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 25.—A general court-mat-tial to try Captain Joel T. Kirkham, 19th Infantry stationed at Fort Reno, opened at Fort Leavenworth yesterday. Co.onel S. S. Sumner is president and Major Crowder, of the Department of Missouri, is Judge Advocate, The charges against Captain Kirkham were preferred by Captain Barrett, who, it is said, accuses Captain Kirkham of disturbing the peace of his household and of conduct unbecom-ing an officer and gentleman.

THE SPORTS OF THE TURF.

GRAVESEND ENTRIES FOR TO-DAY.

SOME EXCELLENT CONTESTS CONFIDENTLY EX-PECTED.

An attractive programme is offered at Gravesend to-day. There are two stake races to be decided. In the Youthful Stakes Handspring and One-I-Love will carry 123 and 120 pounds respectively. Brush will have 118 up, and Prince Lief only 103, There are ten horses named as probable starters, and the indications are that a highly interesting contest will result.

There are selling conditions attached to the race. Handspring and One-I-Love are entered not to be sold, which accounts for the five pounds extra carsold, which accounts for the five pounds extra extra ried by them. Ben Brush, Michael F. Dwyer's recent purchase, is entered to be sold for $5,000. The Brookwood Handleap is rather a surprise. Rey del Carreres will carry 125 pounds. Fiving Butchman 128, and Counter Tenor 123. If all the horses start that have accepted the weights, the race should be a hard-fought battle from post to finish, as the lightweights have some fair races to their credit. Here are the entries:

PIERRE LORILLARD'S TURF CAMPAIGN

HIS PLANS FOR RACING IN ENGLAND. Pierre Lorillard intends to ship his horses to Eng and some time in October. Mr. Lorillard has se cured spacious training quarters at Newmarket about five miles from the Lime Kilns. The grounds are situated a short distance from the Beacon ourse. The yearlings that have been tried at Rancocas are a fine lot, but there was nothing sensational in their trials. Mr. Lorillard will send over some of his two and three year olds to be used as trial horses. There are eight by Sensation and fou by Sailor Prince in the draft of yearlings. When the horses arrive at Newmarket everything will be ready for them, as the stabling is perfect and the establishment is well equipped with every modern appliance used in training horses. A six turns thrown up with soil on the most approved the same lines as that at Rancocas. John Huggins, who will train the horses, is progressive in ideas, and expects to make some changes in his methods. Mr. Huggins intends to adapt his methods to the climate and the conditions which exist in England. Pierre Lorillard's experiences of English racing have taught him all of the chief requisites to race successfully in a country where racing is sport and where the rules are strictly observed tion. His victories in the past with Parole, Iro in England and gave the American thoroughbred in England and gave the American thoroughbred a position unequalled by that of any other nation except England, were won through the pure love of racing as a sport on the part of Mr. Lorillard. The energy and enterprise dispayed by the owner of Rancocas gave racing an impetus in this country which, if carefully guided, would have placed the turf in an impregnable position, free from the taint of Guttenburgs, Gloucesters, Maspeths and other racing associations of the merry-go-round order.

broodmares at Rancocas to twenty-five, Sensation and Sailor Prince will be retained as stallions. Emperor and the other stallions will be disposed of, Mr. Lorillard has leased his training quarters at Newmarket for three years, with an option of retaining them for five additional years, if he desires to do so. Lorillard intends to reduce the number DOMINO'S TEMPER OF THE WORST SORT. WHAT MAY BE DONE WITH JAMES R. KEENE'S FAMOUS COLT.

Domino has developed such an evil temper that it is almost impossible to get him on the racetrack. Every turfman and racegoer admired Domino as a two-year-old, and many thousands of people clung to him as the champion of the American turf. In the spring of his three-year-old year Domino jured one of his forefeet in his work. A few grains es gravel worked into the crevice, and caused the black champion to suffer intensely. He defeated Henry of Navarre in the race for the Withers Stakes at Morris Park and was afterward shipped to Chicago to race for the American Derby. The day before the race his injured foot was badly inflamed. The foot was cut open and a lot of pus es caped, together with some particles of gravel. In the American Derby the colt was pulled and choked for a mile to keep him back to his field. His efforts to go out and race caused him to lunge and plunge At the end of the first mile his injured foot caused Taral to pull him up, as he was so lame that it was feared he had broken down. The race was won by

After the race Domino was unable to place the injured foot on the ground. He could barely turn injured foot on the ground. He could barely turn around in his box. It was four days before he recovered sufficiently to enable Lakeland to ship him back to Sheepshead Bay. Domino then had a rest of a few weeks, after which he was put in training for his autumn engagements. How well he raced the records show. The dead heat at Gravesend between Domino and Henry of Navarre was one of the most bitterly contested races in the history of the turf. The records tell of Domino's high quality as a racer, but they do not tell of the difficulties under which he was trained. The pain and constant irritation caused by his alling foot did much toward souring Domino's disposition. He promised so well in the early spring this year that his owners decided to start him in the Suburban Handicap, in which he was a hot favorite. For some unaccountable reason Domino refused to try his best before six furiongs of the race had been run. He acted as if he collapsed completely in the race. He ran well later, but it was not until he took part in the special race with Henry of Navarre at Sheepshead Bay that he showed plainly that he had, a temper and suiked in his races. He stopped short on the turn into the backstretch in that race and kicked, thus losing several lengths, which lost him the race. He has gradually become worse, until now his temper is such that it is almost impossible to get him to work in a trial.

It is possible that Domino will be retired from the turf at the close of the present season. Foxhall P. Keene is in favor of sending him to the stud. James R. Keene, however, is reluctant to retire Domino at this early day. He helieves that with a change of seene and surroundings Domino will forset the past, Perhaps Domino may be shipped to England, and if his temper improves he may carry the Keene colors to victory in England next year. around in his box. It was four days before he re-

TROTTING-BRED HORSES SELL WELL.

One of the most successful sales of trotting-bred horses that has been held in New-York for a long time took place yesterday at 4. H. Dahiman's Twenty-fourth-st. auction pavilion, fifty-one head fetching $13,835, or an average of $273 each, while the consignment of sixteen animals from H. B. Carroll, Louisiana, Mo., averaged $400 per head. These horses were a mixed lot of cobs, coach horses and speedy roadsters. Charles Doscher. of this city, paid the top price, $1,050, for the Nebraska-bred five-year-old Pat Egan, a handsome big bay that trotted a half-mile in 1:05 and a mile in 2:21½ last Sunday at Fleetwood Park.

A number of fine matched pairs consigned by Andrews & McDonald sold well, $800 being paid for Prince and Clinker, a team of high-stepping real browns of commanding size and style. Following is a list of the principal sales of the day:

THE WESTCHESTER ASSOCIATION'S RACES. All details for the meeting of the Westchester Racing Association, which will be held at Morris Park, have been practically completed. The association has been too much occupied in making the track the finest in the country to busy itself with rumors that had no foundation in fact. ing will positively take place as announced, and the public will find that the association has many pleasant surprises for them.

What the best talent and a liberal supply of wealth can do has been done. Morris Park was always a beautiful course. Improvements have been effected that make it doubly so. It is the purpose of the men in charge to give such a programme and provide such rare racing that it will whet the appetite for the opening races of 1896.

AZOTE FAILS TO LOWER THE RECORD Springfield III., Sept. 25.—Azote did not break the world's trotting record on the Tri-State Fair track today. Try as he would, the famous horse could not beat 2.07%. The high wind which prevailed all day shut off all hopes of a broken record.

NEWS OF SENATOR ELKINS.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. AN ALLEGED INJURY TO HIS ANKLE, CAUSING HIM TO TAKE A SPECIAL TRAIN IN SEARCH

HIS BICYCLE ACCIDENT, AS REPORTED

MISHAP-THE SENATOR'S ANKLES OWN A WHEEL

The following dispatch was printed conspicuously vesterday in the newspapers which receive the serice of the Associated Press:

Kingwood, W. Va., Sept. 25.—Senator-elect Stephen B. Elkins feli from a bicycle yesterday, and so se-verely injured his ankle that he immediately took a special train for New-York City to obtain surgical As one Presidential candidate is known to be practising daily in Maine upon a wheel, not to reduce his Presidential prestige, but rather his weight, it was interesting to learn that a man who is looked upon by his friends as a strong canlilate for the second place on the Republican National ticket should be grooming himself in the same manner for the race, and should be so unfortunate as to full and temporarily place nimself on the retired list. Mr. Elkins has a beautiful home in the fastnesses of the West Virginia mountains, and as the fore-going announcement was delightfully fergetful in stating how the accident happened, it left a great field open for surmise. ator-elect from West Virginia the news could not full to appeal in the most vivil manner. In face and figure Senator El'tins and Thomas Brackett Reed, of Maine, are strikingly alike. The only difference lies in action. Mr. Read is inclined to be slow in motion and drawling in words, but this does not detract from the brilliant repartee and keen thrusts of wit known so well to those who have Senator L.kins is quies in speeca and nervously energetic 'n movement. How one so quick and sure of eye and limb could allow a two-wheelel, pagematic-tited machine to place him hors de combat was a mystery.

With his mind teeming with theories in which broken brake, a mad flight down some steep moun-tain side and a headlong plunge at the bottom preiominated, a reporter started forth to discover all the details of the accident. It had been announced that a special train was bearing the injured man toward New-York, where he could obtain the bes surgical treatment. A special train also furnished food for reflection. Did the statesman from West Virginia have sufficient influence with the railroad company to have one placed at his disposal as a mark of esteem and regard, or did he have to pay for it like any ordinary mortal? Was the train a transcontinental hospital with nurses on hand and a smell of arnica left in the wake? The injury must surely have been a serious one or a special would not have been required. All these things were filtting through the mind of the reporter as he left The Tribune Building and started across City Hall

Scarcely had he crossed the street when he saw a sight that made him open his eyes in wonder. A tall man and a short man were coming across the park with strides that brought them over the ground with great speed. There was something familiar about the big man. The smooth-shaven face and the swinging walk reminded the observer of some one that he knew. He stopped and blinked and then rubbed his eyes. He had just receive the information that Senator Elkins was somewhere on a special train on the way to New-York, suffering great agony from a wrenched ankie. Yet here was the Senator himself, swinging along like a two-year-old taking a trial spin before a race. There was no denying that it was the Senator, and in a moment the tales brought back from Europe by Chauncey M. Depew concerning miracles performed at Lourdes swept across the troubled brain of the reporter. Then reason returned, and the reporter remembered that there was no Lourdes in the neighborhood of New-York. The only logical thing to do was to ask the Senator to explain the miracle. The reporter was at first too much durnfounded to talk coherently, and, as men have been known to do at political conventions, when they wish to refrain from calling up some thing of a troublesome nature, but must cover the point some way, he submitted a paper. A clipping from "The Evening Post" was handed to the Senator, and he was asked in dumb show to explain the marvel.

Senator Elkins took the clipping and read it carefully. As he did so a smile illumed his face. He glanced at his feet in a troubled sort of a way, and then laushed again in an apologetic manner as he murmured: "So sorry, I am sure."

The reporter at last found words to ask him what it all meant. Mr. Elkins replied, laconically: "Blessed if I know. I don't look as if I had been hurt, do 19"

Truth compelled an affirmative answer, and there was no disputing the fact that the Senator had come across the park like a heel-and-toe walker on the last lap. He added: "It is all a fake. I haven't been hurt. I ha sight that made him open his eyes in wonder

THE ACCUSED MAN TO TAKE THE WITNESS STAND-TRACING HIS MOVEMENTS.

San Francisco, Sept. 25.-Mr. Duprey, of counsel for the defence in the Durrant case, made his opening statement this morning. He said he would show that on the morning of April 3 Durrant left his home for that of George King for the purpose of making arrangements for the latter to help him fix the gas apparatus in Emmanuel Church in the afternoon. He met Blanche Lamont on Twenty-first and Mission sts. She was waiting for a car to take her to the High School, and invited him to take a with her. He left her at the High School, and continued on his way to Cooper Medical College, where he remained until about 3:30 o'clock or later. It would be shown by the college records and otherwise that Durrant had attended the lecture, which would take him up to about 3 o'clock that he left the college at 3:30, took a car and reached Emmanuel Church at 4:55. Witnesses would be introduced to prove this, and that when he fix the sunburners, where he was overcome by gas. Everything that occurred in the church subsequently, as stated by King, would be admitted. It would be shown that Durrant saw King home from church, and then proceeded to his own home, where he ate his supper, and after a short time retired.

The defence will show further that the accused The defence will show further that the accused man wore an entirely black suit on that day, and this will disprove the testimony of Mrs. Vogel, who swore he wore a light pair of trousers. Mrs. Leak's testimony would also prove to be valueless, as her sight is defective. As to the witness Oppenheim, it would be shown that he was visited by a young man who wore a blue overcoat, as Oppenheim had described, and who offered rings for sale similar to those of the murdered girl, but that the pawnbroker was entirely mistaken as to his visitor being the defendant. In the course of his statement Mr. Duprey announced that Durrant would take the stand.

The defence will claim that the writing on the package containing Miss Lamont's rings, sent to her aunt, was that of the Rev. J. G. Gibson, of Emmanuel Church, and not that of Durrant. A woman will be introduced who will say she saw the defendant enter Emmanuel Church alone on the afternoon of the murder.
